4th June 2023

HOLY TRINITY REVOLUTIONIZES OUR WAY OF LIFE

In his Angelus address on the Solemnity of the Holy Trinity, Pope Francis recalls that the Trinity is not a "theological exercise," but "a revolution in our way of life." The Pope pointed out that the Holy Spirit speaks, but not of Himself, rather He announces and speaks about Jesus and reveals the Father. Likewise, the Father, "who possesses everything, because He is the origin of all things," gives to the Son everything He possesses and keeps nothing for Himself.

What about ourselves?

The Holy Father encouraged the faithful to look at themselves and about what we pronounce and possess. He observed how normally, when we speak, we tend to speak about ourselves and what we do.

"How different this is from the Holy Spirit, who speaks by announcing others!"

Living for others, and shown through our actions

The Holy Father stressed that our words must translate into actions. "This is why," Pope Francis said, "celebrating the Holy Trinity is not so much a theological exercise, but a revolution in our way of life." God, in whom each Person lives for the other, not for himself, provokes us to live with others and for others.

"Today we can ask ourselves if our life reflects the God we believe in: do I, who profess faith in God the Father and the Son and the Holy Spirit, truly believe that in order to live I need others, I need to give myself to others, I need to serve others? Do I affirm this in words or with my life?"

We are not islands

The Trinity, the Pope said, teaches us that one can never be without the other.

"We are not islands," the Holy Father noted, "we are in the world to live in God's image: open, in need of others and in need of helping others."

He encouraged the faithful to ask themselves: "In everyday life, am I too a reflection of the Trinity?"

"The Sign of the Cross that I make every day, remains a gesture for its own sake, or does it inspire my way of speaking, of encountering, of responding, of judging, of forgiving?"
